

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A process and product are described whereby a waste stream containing bauxite tailings is treated to neutralize alkaline material present, and the resulting material incorporated, for example, into building or other materials to provide enhanced properties.